Benefits of Renting

Whether you require equipment for short-term projects, shutdowns, emergencies, or long-term contract work, Air-Met Scientific offers an extensive range of OHS and environmental monitoring instruments for rental nation-wide.

With rapid changes in technology, greater complexities in the cost of ownership and no large upfront capital outlay, rental on a short or long-term basis may be the most efficient solution for your needs.

- > Avoid the initial purchase cost
- > No maintenance or repair costs
- > No cleaning or decontaminating
- > No asset management
- > Try before you buy
- > Latest technology
- > Shielding from market fluctuation
- > No equipment storage issues
- > No ownership cost

Contact your local rental office on 1800 000 744 to discuss your requirements.

Why Rent From Air-Met Scientific

Proudly Australian owned and operated since 1984, Air-Met Scientific have been making a difference by supporting our customers with great service and quality rental equipment.

National Support

6 locations nation-wide for customer convenience

Largest Product Range & Availability

Over 14,000 pieces of the latest equipment dedicated just to rental

All Equipment Ready For Use When Received

All rental equipment is maintained, calibrated and serviced regularly

Largest Range of Consumables

Air-Met stocks a comprehensive range of consumables at all offices to compliment and support our rental equipment

Technical Knowledge & Expertise

Technical support from our highly knowledgeable and friendly team members

Pay For What You Use

A transit allowance provides a buffer to help offset the cost during delivery

Water Monitoring & Sampling Systems

Water is a vital and limited resource that is easily contaminated from a wide variety of sources. As a result, groundwater monitoring is essential to ensure that contamination does not present a risk to human and environmental health.

Our extensive range of water quality sampling and groundwater monitoring instrumentation is sourced from leading industry suppliers such as YSI Inc, Geotech Environmental Equipment Inc, QED Environmental Systems Inc, and Solinst Ltd. Our equipment is ideal for low flow groundwater sampling, groundwater level measurements, aquaculture monitoring, borehole monitoring, hydrocarbon monitoring and more. We also offer a comprehensive range of soil, sludge and sediment samplers from AMS Inc, as well as a large range of consumables to support our groundwater monitoring instrumentation range.

Air & Dust Monitoring

Airborne hazards from gases, vapours, dusts and fibres can all cause potentially life-threatening illnesses by affecting the lungs, kidneys and liver. Relevant to almost every industry from construction to office environments, air sampling and dust monitoring are vital methods for monitoring workers' exposure to potential airborne workplace hazards.

Gas Detection

Toxic and combustible gases pose a significant threat to both personal and workplace safety. Monitoring of these gases in a wide range of different workplace environments is essential to ensure gas exposure remains within safe limits, and prevent potential explosive situations.

Sourced from leading local and international suppliers such as Industrial Scientific, ION Science and Huberg, Air-Met Scientific's range of gas detectors are suitable for a range of applications including confined space monitoring, leak detection, landfill/biogas analysis, environmental monitoring, and more.
